

We are looking for a new monkey's keeper to help us care for our growing platform

Did you dream about being an animal trainer and exploring the world when you were little? But did you also find out, when growing up, that your talents lie more in 'making code jump through hoops' than in shoveling you-know-what?

Then this job might be your chance, because there is an

Experienced Azure Developer wanted for FlexForceMonkey

FlexForceMonkey is the cloud platform where all buying and selling parties in the flex-market can collaborate into more efficient, fairly distributed and transparent administrative processes. Some developers might find this sentence overly boring, but the ones who directly understand that this means exciting technology like API's for market leading ERP solutions, portal functionality for timesheets, global standards for digital invoices and security; those are the developers we are looking for.

Imagine that all these things are put together in one exciting experience. Our exploration through the jungle of flex started a little less than 2 years ago. Simplifying and demystifying a market where data-models between sellers and buyers do not match and where complex calculations on collective labor agreements amplify those issues. The pace is picking up but there is still a lot to do. So we require additional senior caretaking resources in our jungle.

You and your team position:

Off course we need you to have an extensive experience on development in Microsoft Azure. Building applications and sites with C#, ASP.NET, AngularJS, etcetera. Designing technical solutions, based on the vast library of resources that are available, should be second nature to you. But team performance may be even more important. Because our keepers of the Monkey are exactly that. With an enormous drive to execute, our people combines our core values of creativity, can-do mentality and diversity into one great team effort and team experience.

And most of all: a flexible mindset is key to making it all work.

Diversity, to us, stands for the fact that everyone is different and thus the same in its basic humanity. This means we encourage everyone, independently of color, background, status and gender to apply. When your Dutch or English is sufficient and you have 'something' new to add to all the keepers we already have in our team, we see this as an added value!

Just come and get a cup of coffee:

In the end it will all come down to getting in touch. You will have to meet our monkey and talk to our team. So get an impression at www.flexforcemonkey.com and do not hesitate to send us an email at doede.van.haperen@flexforcemonkey.com or call via +31-(0)6-48619646.

